General Information

The following manual represents the guidelines and rules of operation for each medical clinic. All staff whether professional or non-professional will be asked to follow these written instructions. These written procedures also provide a missionary, host pastor, or evangelist the opportunity to understand ORH prior to a commitment to do a clinic.

These procedures, SOP, are definitely not exhaustive in nature, but they are intended to give the participants general guidelines for uniform behavior.

PURPOSE OF ORH CLINICS

The purpose of our clinics is to mimic the earthly ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ. Christ consistently cared for both the physical and spiritual needs of people. Therefore, ORH wants to set a pattern of ministry that cares for both the physical and spiritual needs of people.

Medical Clinics are an important service provided by Operation Renewed Hope, demonstrating the mercy and compassion of Jesus Christ. Through this demonstration we hope to soften the hearts of the people to whom we minister so that they will be receptive for a transformational Gospel message.

Matthew 9:35-38 (KJV)

³⁵ And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. ³⁶ But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd. ³⁷ Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; ³⁸ Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest.

The spiritual and physical need of people is the driving force behind ORH. It is the goal of ORH to provide for these needs to be met immediately and in the future. Physically the clinics provide for discovery of medical need with immediate care when possible. Spiritual needs include the preaching of the gospel, call to repentance, and opportunity for the patient to respond to the Gospel.

Physically, long term solutions are desired and are pursued as possibility allows. It is also ORH's desire to provide long term spiritual solutions by leaving permanent works in the clinic regions to continue the training, teaching, and encouragement for spiritual growth.

ORH does not apologize for combining relieving physical suffering and ministry to the soul of man. ORH does both indiscriminately, and honestly.

However, it is not the purpose of ORH to assume the medical or personal needs care of the people indefinitely. It is wrong to perpetuate a ministry that deprives people from caring for themselves, but it is proper to offer assistance that is beyond their capabilities. Therefore, ORH seeks to provide medical care and spiritual guidance to help people with their needs and encourage them to improve their means of caring for themselves. The medical service provided is not to substitute for personal responsibility to improve living conditions and medical care for their local surroundings. ORH gives a “hand-up”, but not a “hand-out”

PHILOSOPHY OF CLINIC OPERATION

There are several services that the clinic cannot provide; however, there is a wide range of services that the clinic can provide. The following guidelines we believe are very general but important.

1. The clinics are not meant to be a hospital experience for those who are serviced. ORH does not have the capability to handle such a commitment.
2. The clinics are meant to be an avenue for people to receive consultation, examination, and topical or internal treatment through topical solutions or limited doses of antibiotics.
3. The procedures performed will be strictly limited to those things which in the professional opinion of our on-sight medical staff are reasonable according to the short term duration of our stay, the tools available for our use, and the medicines available for our use.
4. Procedures that require long term monitoring, risky surgical procedures or hospitalization will not be permitted. Such care will be referred to available resources through the permanent missionary.

To the best of Operation Renewed Hopes ability, medical clinics shall be conducted with professionalism which glorifies the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, we establish the following guidelines:

1. Prior to being seen by a physician, each patient must be triaged. Triage shall consist of obtaining patient identifying information, vital signs, chief complaint, and a quick assessment of serious and emergency medical conditions.
2. Our standard of care is that patients shall see a properly prepared care giver as listed in the remainder of this section.
 - a. Licensed Physicians from the United States.
 - b. Licensed physicians from other countries than the United States.

- c. Operation Renewed Hope may use physicians in training at a postgraduate training program. These physicians shall be closely monitored, supervised, and actively taught and trained by licensed physicians. They shall fall under the ultimate direction of our lead physician for the medical clinic.
 - d. Operation Renewed Hope may use mid-level providers including family nurse practitioners and physicians' assistants to provide medical care to patients. These mid-level providers will practice under the supervision of the physicians and ultimately under the direction of the lead physician for the medical clinic.
3. Medical Clinics shall not use nurses (including Registered Nurses or Licensed Practical Nurses) to diagnose patient needs. Nurses are valuable and essential staff workers in our medical clinics. They shall fall under the direction of the lead physician and head nurse for each respective medical clinic.
4. Physicians shall practice professional standards of care for each patient and shall practice conventional medicine. Experimental procedures and therapies which require higher levels of facilities or equipment beyond the scope of our medical clinics shall not be performed or undertaken. All physicians practicing in our medical clinics shall fall under the direction of the lead physician concerning procedures and therapies.
5. Physicians shall endeavor to see patients who are present for medical problems. In some cases, priority shall be given to those patients with serious or emergency medical conditions. When the volume of patients exceeds the capacity of the physicians to treat them, then the physicians shall treat the most acutely and seriously ill patients first. Nurses shall assist in triaging and categorizing those patients who are most in need of treatment.
6. Medical clinics shall be conducted with the permission of governmental authorities on the national level or state level or local level. A national physician is desired to be present in medical clinics as a resource for referral of serious and emergency medical conditions, and so that they can explain specific local conditions and practices among both the people being treated and the local health care providers. The national physician is a valuable cultural and medical resource.
7. Operation Renewed Hope seeks to direct patients who present conditions which according to our determination are beyond our ability to a local facility for treatment where available. Transportation for these patients cannot be guaranteed by our limited resources.
8. Our Medical Clinics shall utilize pharmaceutical medications and medical supplies which are in excellent condition and are not out of date. Pharmaceuticals will be prescribed in quantities which reflect the standards of dosage consistent with normal distribution in the United States. Variety of pharmaceuticals distributed will be regulated and may be restricted by Operation Renewed Hope's professional staff under the direction of the lead doctor of the clinic.

9. Optometry is a valuable adjunct to the medical clinics which Operation Renewed Hope conducts. Patients presenting to the Optometry unit shall see a licensed optometrist or ophthalmologist. Also an optician or trained Lion's Club worker can also be used to distribute glasses in place of the Optometrist or Ophthalmologist, but may not diagnose or treat.
10. Prior to the clinic, all professionals must be ready to provide credentials for submission to the medical authorities of the country in which we are working.

ATTITUDE OF PARTICIPANTS

These trips are ministries. They are not made for our personal comforts or fulfillment. If you are hard to please concerning sleeping arrangements, personal hygiene, or food; please, do not go. You will be working long hours. You will be hot, dirty, and exhausted. You will be expected and must remain sweet and pleasant. You will be asked to work at tasks sometimes that you might think are below you. If you cannot endure such situations please do not begin this trip. It is not for those with low stamina or humility. If you are afraid to fly or travel by water, please, do not go.

We are going to help the people. It means that sometimes we may have to work long hours to meet the needs. We attempt to limit the number of people who must be seen, but we cannot always have perfect success. Sometimes we must stay until the job for the day is finished. This will take many out of their comfort zones. If you go recognize that we must stay until the patients for the day have been helped.

DANGERS AND PRECAUTIONS

Physical

You must accept that you could be physically hurt, contract a disease, incur large financial expense, or even lose your life. If you cannot accept this; please, do not go. It is your responsibility to make certain that you have prepared for all such possibilities.

It is the participants responsibility to obtain all necessary prevention inoculations, and take all precautions for physical safety.

Sometimes people have infirmities and/or diet restrictions which could result in physical harm if there is not proper planning. It is very important that our staff and leaders are aware of your conditions. It is your responsibility to put this information on all appropriate forms.

If you have a disorder that requires limiting physical exertion our staff and leaders need to be aware of this.

If you have had surgery or are in need of surgery our staff and leaders need to be aware of this. This information should be forthcoming prior to purchasing air fare.

Due to the danger of such trips children may not attend the trips. The age requirements are 14 years old and up. All people who go with Operation Renewed Hope are encouraged to attend a boot camp for training. However, a person at least 18 years of age at trip-time, may opt out of boot camp. Any person under 18 must attend a boot camp unless accompanied by a parent or guardian. A parent may also sign a waiver for a young person under 18 acknowledging that they do not want their child to attend a boot camp.

Mental

Sometimes people have phobias which are impossible to overcome. Fears are real and must be addressed. If you have a fear that would mean that you could not travel well in the air, land, or water, our staff and leaders must be made aware of this. If you are afraid of animals or remote settings, our staff and leaders must be aware of this. The applicant is responsible for full disclosure of these problems.

If you cannot travel away from home without being homesick, frightened that you would lose a loved one, or frightened that you might not return because of distance; our staff needs to be aware of this. The applicant is responsible for full disclosure of these problems.

If you are taking a drug for depression or any mental disorientation, our staff and leaders must be aware of this.

If you have been violent, disruptive, or cannot cope with stress or pain; our staff and leaders must be aware of this. The applicant is responsible for full disclosure of these problems.

Full disclosure of these problems must be done before purchasing of air fare, and should be done on the applications. At any time this information should be discovered, the applicant would be asked to not travel and would not be eligible for refunds.

Travel

As a result of circumstances around the world, it is important that team members understand that going to a foreign country exposes the team member to many unpredictable events. 1. The transportation provided in countries can be very limited and could become unreliable. 2. Today, team members have a greater possibility of becoming a terrorist target. 3. As a result of the hostilities that exist within foreign countries toward the United States, a team member risks a potential threat of hostile action because of being from the United States. 4. There is also a possibility of physical attack because of religious persecution. These four things pose for Operation Renewed Hope teams a great deal of concern and caution when traveling.

The possibility always exists that transportation will not work as planned. Airlines are infamous for being late or canceling flights. Roads can be blocked. Bridges can be out. Also the remoteness of our locations could result in losing the existing air connections already purchased. This would mean extra charges for participants. Each participant would be responsible for such extra charges. Please, consider bringing some means of covering such extra costs with cash or credit. Please be aware that the published cost of the trip covers only normal costs.

ORH strongly recommends that a team member bringing a credit card for such eventualities inform his credit card company that he is traveling outside of the United States and that he may need to use his credit card. It is also important for the team member to know that any use of a personal credit card increases the opportunity for identity theft. The team member should talk with the credit card company about this.

If a team member chooses to bring extra cash, please, remember that money brought into a foreign country greater than ten thousand dollars ($10,000) must be reported on the declaration card that is provided by the country you are entering, and you must be able to explain why you are carrying that much cash.

Travel arrangements are no longer a guarantee of arrival or departure, even with airlines of the United States. It is very difficult to have complete confidence that there will not be interruption of travel. It might be to the team member's advantage to purchase insurance for interruption.

Concerning hostilities by terrorism, Operation Renewed Hope cannot guarantee a team member that there will not be a terrorist attack against one of our groups. It is your responsibility to make sure that you are convinced of your personal safety when you travel. You can contact the State Department concerning the country that you're entering. Every time you leave the borders of the United States you are in danger of becoming a target of opportunity by those who have purposed to create terror by inflicting pain, suffering, death, and horror on innocent civilians.

Concerning volatility toward the United States, ORH can never guarantee that the country entered will remain friendly during our time in-country. A country can harbor people groups who, although not terrorists, can by circumstances, such as decisions made by the United States government, while in transit or while in country, create hostile situations toward American citizens. As a result of this, it is very important that a team member recognize that this type of situation could develop around a team.

There is always the possibility of religious persecution because of the tensions that exist between the various religions. Some religions have resorted to extreme violence by attacking restaurants or hotels as in Kampala and Mumbai. They might create a roadblock and rob or attack Americans especially if those people are a part of a religious group with which they disagree. Potential for a religious confrontation is ever present. Operation Renewed Hope cannot predict or warn you other than to say that this is a potential.

The possibility of personal risk concerning robbery, accident, or health must be considered when becoming a team member. When you travel with Operation Renewed Hope you are accepting that you have been fully informed, and you are assuming exclusive responsibility for all your personal risk and decisions.

Should you realize that it would be best for you not to travel, please, withdraw as early as possible. After the first payment is required, you are obligated for the entire published cost of the trip. Please, make sure that you understand that this is the case, and no money can be returned to you.

Social Media

Social media is pleasant and can be a blessing when used responsibly. Responsible behavior in using this communication venue demands that a team member remember his responsibility to the team and people who have hosted a team. His actions directly influence the people that are traveling with him, and that influence could be negative.

Team members must constantly be aware that anything put on a public media for consumption can go far beyond immediate "Friends." In a case involving two British young people it became an immigration matter. Before leaving England, these two twenty year-olds wrote on their Twitter account a very negative remark about the United States. They expressed a desire for the destruction of the United States. When they arrived in the United States, their names were in a computer file concerning their statements. They were deported immediately. Whatever you write prior to going into a country on social media could be read by that country, and could mean that anyone on your ticket record could be rejected at the point of entry. Never express the following.

1. That you are going for religious work reasons.
2. Never mention that you are a medical professional working in the country.
3. Never publish addresses, emails, phone numbers, etc., of anyone traveling with you to the country.
4. Never publish locations, addresses, emails, phone numbers, etc., of missionaries or individual Christians in the destination country.

5. Never publish anything negative or derogatory about the country that you are entering with the medical team.

The same is true when you return. It is one thing to write an e-mail to specific people about your trip; it is another thing to go on social media that can be read by the public. Never write anything after a trip that would endanger the missionaries, the churches, or individual Christians in a country where ORH has conducted a clinic. Always remain very discreet when publishing anything having to do with a trip prior to going or after you return. It could have serious consequences.

When working with social media do not speak for Operation Renewed Hope. When someone publishes requests for help with personnel for a trip, it is a kind and gracious gesture. However, please make sure that you have contacted ORH prior to such publication. Never give any information on a social media concerning the operation of a trip, the operations of any program of ORH, or the staffing of a trip without permission directly from the ORH president, Jan Milton.

Information Source

All team members are free to contact the following group for information concerning immunizations prior to leaving on a trip. Please call toll free 888-499-PASS (ext. 7277) to be connected to the Passport Health office nearest you.

We also recommend that participants consult their local health departments for travel instructions.

We recommend to all the following immunizations: Hep A, Hep B, and Tetanus for all trips.

CHAIN OF COMMAND STRUCTURE

The Host Pastor, Missionary, or Evangelist

The host pastor, missionary, or evangelist of the trip will be our highest authority in the local church or mission group. He is the authorized representative for the local ministries working with ORH to accomplish the medical mission.

He will work directly with the leadership of ORH. He must coordinate with ORH staff all elements of the mission for the benefit of the local body of believers sponsoring the clinic. Various responsibilities are listed in this book for him. He must read, understand, and agree to handle all local responsibilities prior to engaging the ORH team for future ministry.

National Doctor Consultant

Where available a national doctor will be the representative of the local health care. This doctor will be consulted where necessary to obtain his understanding of the host nation's general medical policies, or in situations needing extended care of patient needs.

The Advance Team Leader

The advance team leader enters the country with his team of workers in order to prepare for the main team arrival. He is the authorized representative to work with the host pastor, missionary, or evangelist for all needed advance preparation. He is the ORH authority until the team leader arrives on site with the main team.

The Team Leader

The team leader is the over-all leader of the clinic. He may also be the advance team leader. In his absence, the assigned alternate leader or the advance team leader will assume decision responsibility. He will work with all listed leadership to assure that the clinic goes according to the instructions in this handbook, to provide for the clinic participant's safety, and to provide clear leadership in all situations not covered by the handbook.

The Alternate

The alternate leader is assigned to know the plans of the clinic in case of the loss or absence of the Team Leader. His responsibilities would be the same as the Team Leader during such times.

Director of Clinic Operations

If the director is on the trip, he will facilitate orderly clinic operations concerning the site set up, lodging, food, and travel arrangements.

The Lead Doctor

This individual is a medical professional in charge of the proper medical administration of the medical clinic. He is the final authority over all medical matters. He will work in concert with the team leader or designated alternate.

The Head Nurse

The head nurse will be responsible for the nursing staff working under the lead doctor. The head nurse may field medical procedure questions relating to the nursing staff. The head nurse will consult with the Lead Doctor should understanding of the situation be greater than a common need.

Standards for ORH Clinic Operations

SPIRITUAL MINISTRY

The evening before a clinic day a gospel service is conducted at the site of the next day clinic. During the clinic day, a preaching station is utilized for preaching in the clinic. It is part of the clinic just as any other clinic unit described. Please read the section on Evangelism.

IMMEDIATE CARE UNIT

The immediate care team members seek to verify the immediate well-being of those who attend the clinic.

Many of the people who attend the clinic will travel a long distance by foot, canoe, or horse. They will have need of water. When possible the immediate care unit will provide water.

When possible the immediate care worker is to observe behavior and appearance. If a person appears to be sick they will display certain characteristics such as heavy sweating, labored breathing, paleness, lethargic behavior, or any behavior that does not appear normal. In addition to this, the immediate care people are to be aware of skin appearance as spots, swelling, or rash. Immediate care also looks for open bleeding or a raspy cough.

If any of these things are noticed, a person should be brought to the attention of the head nurse. Under no circumstance is an immediate care worker to touch one of the patients waiting to see a doctor. Should a patient faint or in any way need physical assistance the immediate care worker must seek the assistance of the head nurse when possible.

Should a patient appear unruly the immediate care staff should immediately disengage from the patient and seek assistance. At no time should a worker come near a patient displaying signs of drunkenness, hostility, incoherence, or mental disorder. These signs can include such things as boisterous talk, flailing of arms, spasmodic muscle movement, loud noises, crying, convulsions, or simply unawareness of surroundings.

INFORMATION STATION

Forms will be provided for questioning each patient. These patient forms will include personal, vital signs, complaint, diagnosis, and prescription information. Several attendants will be needed to speak to the people in the country language and then write the information in English.

The Information Station will handle personal information and complaint. After recording the information the patient must be instructed to keep these forms with them until they go to the pharmacy where they will be collected. They should be told that even if there is no prescription, they must go to the pharmacy to leave the forms; or they may leave them with the last doctor they see.

Those recording information must write legibly so that all information will be available to the doctors.

The attendants will first number each form so that an accurate check may be made of the number of patients for the day. The attendant will then ask and complete all blanks of information concerning the patient. No blanks should be left unanswered. It is crucial that all information be complete especially information about allergies or allergic reactions and the information about the medications which the patient might be taking. If the patient does not know about allergies or allergic reactions this should be indicated so the doctor may make a judgment concerning proper treatment. If there is no answer to a question then write N/A so the doctor will know the question has been asked and answered.

The attendants must make a very determined effort to obtain and clearly record the actual complaint of the patient for the benefit of the doctors who will see the patients. Also the attendant should record the medical areas which the patient will require. If the patient must see two doctors this should be recorded on the form. Any doctor the patient does not request to see must be crossed-out on the form. The patient may only see two of the three possible doctors.

After the attendant has properly completed the form with the information of the patient, the patient should be moved to the triage line.

TRIAGE UNIT

The purpose of the triage is classification of need. Each patient will receive a general examination that will include blood pressure, respiration, temperature, and pulse. This information will be forwarded to the nurse-in-charge who will make a determination as to the degree of need that this patient is experiencing. The nurse will be responsible to route the patient according to the triage information and the complaint.

Triage can be very demanding; however, it is recommended that the nurse remind the workers that demand does not dictate. The information that is being gathered must be accurate. This will not occur if the worker hurries or is careless. The worker must not only work at a pace that reflects a cognizance of the workload, but also reflects an understanding of the importance of accuracy. The nurse-in-charge must monitor the efficiency and accurateness of the workers. Gentle reminders are very important tools to keep weary hands and minds aware. Take time to record information.

Recording the vital signs and complaints of a patient is crucial. All patients must have a triage form completed by the triage unit worker. The worker must be careful to record all requested information that is pertinent to the triage unit. The information must be recorded accurately and legibly. The doctors will be hindered by inaccurate or un-discernible information. No patient may be examine or consult a doctor without a patient form completed in triage.

The triage unit must not become a place for carelessness in hygiene. The triage unit will be in direct contact with the body of the patient; therefore, the nurse-in-charge must require a strict adherence to safety from contamination. All triage workers must wear gloves, and these gloves must be disposed of at the close of the triage day. The workers must also wear masks. No worker may approach a bleeding patient without face protection masks.

The worker must constantly be made aware that the hands are not to be placed around the mouth. Also any worker who leaves the triage unit on a break must de-glove and cleanse the hands prior to eating or associating with others. Upon return from a break the worker must cleanse, glove, and mask before re-entering the triage unit for service to patients. All workers must be completely aware of and follow all hygiene regulations in this SOP.

The triage unit will be comprised of a nurse-in-charge and assistants. The unit will also use trained youth workers. These youth workers will be directly responsible to the nurse-in-charge and assistants. The nurse-in-charge will work directly with all doctors to co-ordinate an efficient operation.

The triage unit should also look for possible oversights by the immediate care concerning coughing, bleeding, or other visible signs of serious disease. Isolation of a patient should be immediate.

CENTRAL SERVICES UNIT

Central Services makes the operation of the clinic efficient and effective. Without the proper storage and distribution of medical equipment no services could be offered. Therefore it is important that the Central Services be properly functioning.

Prior to going on the trip, our warehouse director or central services nurse will organize and pack the daily essentials for examination and treatment. The nurse must make a complete inventory of what is packed. The packing box must be inventoried for immediate use. The nurse will be available at clinic to consult with the Central Services staff.

The Central Service will be under the control of the CS manager. The manager will be responsible to oversee transit of all equipment and materials during the trip. He must be certain that all materials arrive at the clinic site.

The CS manager will be responsible to unpack and organize the materials to be used. Often the area for organization is very limited; therefore the CS manager must be wise in how much of each item he unpacks. The boxes themselves may be used as table tops with only a few of each item on the box. The items should be ordered according to type and alphabet. The types consist of needles/syringes, bandaging and cotton products, containers, tools, and other items. The doctors should be given as clear a picture of stock quantities and materials availability at the close of each clinic day.

The CS manager will be given a helper to fulfill his duties.

PHARMACY

The pharmacy is one of the most important areas of the clinic due to the need for medicine after a patient has seen a doctor. Most clinics will only prescribe medicines, but we also provide the medicines. As a result of this it is crucial that we do an adequate job in dispensing the proper and accurate types and dosages of medicines.

Each doctor will write prescriptions on the pharmacy prescription form. This form will be stapled to the patient form permanently. The pharmacy staff will transfer instructions to the packaging holding the medicine.

No one but a doctor may authorize a prescription for medicine. Medicine may only be dispensed with written approval from a doctor. The doctor should write on the patient form clearly, legibly, and accurately the name of the medicine, dosage amounts, and frequency. The patient forms with the stapled prescription form must be compiled and kept in the pharmacy in order to track the diagnosis and distribution of medicines.

Each doctor must be aware of the types of drugs available for their use; therefore, a list of medicines in the pharmacy will be provided as soon as possible to the doctors. On orientation day of the trip the pharmacy director will organize the team to prepare the pharmacy medicines. The medicines should be broken down by daily need. Each day an accounting of remaining medicines must be furnished to doctors. A new purchase list should be prepared daily.

Operation Renewed Hope reserves the right to determine appropriate dosage amounts concerning distribution of medicine. At no time should a medicine be distributed in a reckless or wasteful manner. Medicine should not be used to indicate a level of concern on our part or to indicate proper care. The Lead Doctor will make these determinations.

The pharmacy personnel may not change any prescription except the doctor of record agrees or the Head Doctor gives such instructions. If pharmacy personnel have a question concerning the prescription this question must be taken directly to the doctor of record. No prescription should be filled, if the pharmacy personnel is uncertain about the exact meaning of the prescription or sees a potential for problems with the prescription written.

It is the responsibility of the pharmacy personnel to inform doctors of shortages or changes in the inventory of medicines.

All medicines which require a prescription must be kept in the pharmacy. This is meant to protect the clinic, the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist, and the professional staff. Medicines which require a prescription must not be open to access by the general public being serviced by the clinic at any time.

The access should be restricted by the location of the pharmacy and the flowing of patient traffic. NO CHILDREN CAN BE ALLOWED IN THIS AREA AT ANY TIME. No patient should be allowed access to the pharmacy area. No prescription medicines should be distributed to the doctor's areas because of the inability to guard against unauthorized dispensing or possession of the medicines. The doctor's attention could be diverted by patient need and a child could get access to the medicine. This could be a life threatening situation.

MEDICAL UNIT

The medical unit is organized into teams. When available, a team consists of a youth staff runner, a nurse, and a doctor.

The runner will be responsible to execute instructions from the nurse or doctor, such as, obtaining items from Central Services. The runner must be available at all times except when dispatched for a specific duty.

The nurse will work directly with the doctor, as is the common expectation. The nurse will help the doctor to be as effective as possible in the care of the patient.

The doctor will be in charge of the medical unit in which he is assigned. The doctor is responsible for diagnosis, prescribed treatment, and prescription of medicine for his patient's need.

The need to do general surgical procedures is often a reality for our medical unit. General surgery for our units is any surgical procedure that can be performed with local or topical anesthesia, requiring no monitoring equipment of vital signs, or hospitalization as determined by ORH standards. The doctors should become familiar with the surgical capabilities of the Central Services before attempting any surgery.

The doctors on the team must remember that ORH wishes to keep strong, healthy relationships with the country in which we are working. This relationship could be damaged if a medical incident occurred that could be considered mal-practice. For this reason we ask that our doctors never ignore the local national doctors. Consult with them where needed and when available. We also insist that doctors be willing to talk with the other doctors on site if there is any unusual situation that they encounter before engaging in a procedure. There is wisdom in a multitude of counselors. There is also safety in shared knowledge to verify actions taken. The more witnesses to all that we do medically, the better.

DENTAL UNIT

Team Members

The dental unit will consist of a dentist, a dental assistant, and a sterilization/supply manager.

The dental assistant must be familiar with the array of dental supplies and instruments in order to maintain an ample stock of dental supplies for the use of the dentist. He must also know where to obtain additional supplies from Central Supply when needed. The dental assistant must also assist in the setup of the patient to the dentist's satisfaction.

The dental assistant is to work closely with the dentist, providing clean instruments, gauze, anesthetic, and other disposables at the request of the dentist. They must also assist with patient management and crowd flow.

The sterilization assistant is responsible for sterilization of instruments. Methods for sterilization, as demonstrated by the dentist, must be employed so that contamination does not occur.

The dentist is responsible for overseeing all dental clinic operations, ensuring proper management of infectious materials and injurious equipment. Proper training of auxiliary personnel is imperative. The dentist must constantly monitor the dental clinic for proper function and competent performance of team members.

The dentist should strive to address the chief complaint of each patient according to their capability and ability.

Pre-trip

ORH will provide basic instruments for extractions, as well as any necessary disposables: gauze, local anesthetic, needles, suture, gelfoam, gloves, and materials needed for disinfection. It may be helpful for the dentist or hygienist to supplement the ORH armamentarium with his or her own instruments. Two months prior to travel, the dentist should receive a list of supplies that are typically provided. The dentist should then prepare a list of any other materials deemed necessary. This list should be sent to the ORH offices immediately upon completion so that an order can be placed.

Mission Site

The first task of the dental team will be to unpack and inventory supplies that have been made available.

The second task of the team will be to set up operations. The team will be provided physical location suitable for operation of a dental clinic. The location may be an open arena or a closed room. There should be an adequate light source, a place for instruments and supplies, and a scrub table for the instruments. The area should be organized for optimal patient flow. The team should be certain that they have a location for infectious waste disposal.

The third task of the team will be instrument disinfection and site cleanup. The instruments must be scrubbed after each use with sanitizing solutions and treated disinfection solutions.

Waste handling must be organized so that infectious materials do not come into contact with other patients or with dental unit personnel. All contaminated waste should be conveyed to a designated biohazard bag. Disposal of these bags must then be accomplished according to the standard procedures of the country in which we are working. All needles must be put in containers such as a “sharps container.”

The fourth task will be an inventory of the instruments. A written inventory of the instruments will be supplied to the dental team. They must check this inventory listing periodically so that no tools will be lost. Tools are extremely expensive. At the close of the clinic on cleanup day, the tools must be inventoried and packed for reshipment to the United States. Any missing items must be reported and an attempt must be made to find the missing items.

The fifth task will be to pack for departure. The packing of the dental chairs and equipment for return shipment is crucial and must be taken extremely seriously. This area of the clinic is extremely expensive, and lost equipment will make it impossible for ORH to continue. The dentist(s) must supervise the packing.

OPTOMETRY UNIT

The person dispensing glasses and an assistant will compose the optometry unit.

The assistant will be responsible to unpack, repack, and arrange the glasses. The glasses are marked and under the supervision of the one dispensing. The assistant must be very careful with the glasses because dropping of the boxes could produce breakage or scratches; both of which are counter-productive to the servicing of those in need.

The person using the auto-refractor will be responsible for the use, storage, and transportation of the auto-refractor. This instrument will require careful handling. The auto-refractor may require a power source; therefore, a portable 110 v generator or a 110 v wall outlet will need to be provided by the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist. A power inverter connected to a car battery will also work. The auto-refractor must not be moved unless it is housed in a shock absorbent packing system.

At the close of the clinic all glasses must be repacked in order and type for the missionary. The missionary will then take the glasses to the government clinics for distribution or will save the glasses for distribution to those in need after the medical team has left.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

Full Code – Cardiac or Respiratory Arrest

The closest trained person must go immediately and assess the patient's breathing and circulation. They should instruct someone to blow the whistle appropriately while they begin CPR if appropriate.

Sound the alarm at which time all medical personnel who are free to respond should respond to the site of the emergency. The signal for such a situation is a long continuous blast at regular intervals until response is confirmed.

The most qualified person first on the scene will take responsibility for the patient until the lead doctor arrives on the scene. The lead doctor will then take control of all resuscitation efforts with the patient.

The closest nurse without patient duties will immediately begin to record the time line of events used in the resuscitation process. This will be recorded on the patient form if possible. In case of excessive timeline events as many clean forms as are needed may be used. The recording of the actual event is crucial to future understanding of the actual steps of the event.

If resuscitation efforts are successful, arrangements should be made to transport the patient to the nearest appropriate facility when available.

If the resuscitation efforts are not successful the decision to call the code and cease resuscitation efforts should be by the lead doctor.

In the event of a code crowd control will be vital. All available non-medical personnel should be involved in clearing the area of on-lookers and keeping present patients calm and in their places.

One person will be designated to deal with the family members if present. Ideally this will be the host missionary or national pastor in consultation with the team leader.

Potentially Life Threatening Event

This would include but not limited to loss of consciousness, active bleeding, anaphylactic reaction, sudden change in mental status (like a stroke), hypovolemic shock, unstable vital signs, or any unexpected event which is determined to require immediate medical assistance.

The nearest trained person will assess the patient, and if the event is believed to require medical attention, they will sound the alarm of two short blasts at regular intervals.

Upon hearing the blast the lead doctor, head nurse, and team leader should respond immediately to the location. Any other medical personnel that are not actively involved in patient care should make themselves available.

The care of the patient can also be undertaken by the responding doctor.

Security Emergency

Security emergencies will be indicated by three short blasts at regular intervals.

The team leader with assistance of all available personnel will evaluate the situation at hand and take appropriate actions. The team leader will assign all personnel necessary responsibilities at the time of the event.

If a continuous short blast on the whistle is heard by staff members they should go to the predetermined evacuation site and maintain calm until evacuation is possible. All equipment and supplies should be abandoned immediately upon hearing the continuous short blasts. This is to be observed only due to severe threat to the teams well-being.

SANITATION

Personal Hygiene

1. Staff are asked to wear gloves at all times during the clinic.
2. All workers who might encounter blood, body fluids or have close work around the face of a patient should wear masks provided for this possibility and appropriate eye protection. It is the position of Operation Renewed Hope that people mask at all times. We ask for compliance with this.
3. All workers should wash their hands regularly and especially before ingesting food and water. Hands should be washed with soapy water and cleansed with disinfectant before eating, after a personal break, after bathroom usage, and after the clinic day is over. Germ X or a wash similar is provided for intermittent use or as needed.
4. Workers should be aware that placing a gloved or bare hand to the mouth is an unsafe practice.
5. Workers should not chew on any clinic items or place anything in or near the mouth that could be contaminated.
6. All workers must cleanse their hands after personal examination of a patient.

7. Any contact with contaminated materials requires washing and disinfecting of contaminated area.

Clinic Hygiene

1. Instructions concerning clinic cleanliness made by medical professionals must be immediately followed.
2. Gloves should be changed after patient examination. If there is any possibility of contamination such as touching an open wound or sore in the process of working with the patient.
3. Any disposable sterile wrapping may not be used if the wrapping has been compromised.
4. All disposable instruments, bandaging, or disposable items must be disposed of after usage. Do not leave them out because of possible patient contamination.
5. No disposable supplies may be reused.
6. No patient should be examined until all workers have properly disposed of and prepared examination area for a new patient in the examination area and have applied rules of personal hygiene.
7. If disinfectant is available, the clinic examination area should be sprayed with disinfectant. It must be cleaned even if disinfectant is not available
8. Should it become necessary to impose more drastic hygiene policies, the ORH lead physician will determine the level of clinic hygiene to be imposed. Examples of more drastic hygiene would be quarantine procedures, or the need to burn contaminated clothing because of infection.
9. Disposable items must be secured in the examination area away from patients. Just like medicine improperly obtained by a child, or anyone, disposables can be very dangerous.
10. Disposal of all contaminated waste must be in red bio-hazard bags.
 - a. These bags must be sealed when full.
 - b. No materials should be removed from the bags after they are sealed.
 - c. These bags must be disposed of a proper site provided through the local ministry of health.
 - d. These bags are never to be left in the open where children could get their hands on the waste materials.
 - e. They must be secured in the examination areas so no one can get access to them.
 - f. The bags may not be left at any clinic site, but must remain with the medical team until proper disposal can occur.

- g. All disposable products contaminated by blood must be placed in these bags for disposal.
11. Needles must be disposed of in proper sharps containers. The sharps containers must be treated as all disposable bio-hazard waste.
12. Any professional seeing unsafe or improper hygiene must report this to the team leader or lead doctor immediately.
13. Anyone who has a potentially dangerous exposure to contaminated or potentially contaminated material, examples: needle stick or eye splash or open wound exposure should report it immediately to the lead physician for proper prophylactic treatment or testing.
14. Any worker displaying signs of illness such as fever or diarrhea should consult the lead physician immediately.

The purpose of hygiene rules is to protect the safety of the patient and the worker. No worker, professional, or other person is exempt from proper hygiene rules. Any worker who refuses to follow these rules will be removed from their unit's service.

ADVANCE TEAM

The advance team will be responsible to help the missionary prepare our accommodations prior to the main body arrival.

The advance team is under the command of the appointed team leader. His commands are final and must be obeyed. Life or death can depend on our accepting and execution of his commands.

1. The advance team will stock food, water, and medical equipment for the clinic.
2. The advance team will clean living accommodations and prepare them for occupancy.
3. The advance team will clean the buildings housing the clinic and allocate buildings for specific purposes, such as dental, optometry, medical.
4. The advance team will move supplies to all locations that are designated as target areas.
5. The advance team will clear landing sites for helicopters to land.
6. The advance team will prepare cooking stations, toilets, and equipment to operate generators to produce electricity.
7. The advance team will work in concert with the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist.
8. The advance team will be responsible for the clinic opening on time. In order to get at least four full days of clinic the advance team must have all operations ready for the team to begin the moment the main body arrives.

This is crucial to save time and money. Also this is important to the missionary who must fulfill his own duties as well as help us.

PRE-CLINIC PREPARATION IN-COUNTRY

Evangelism Teams

All efforts to help people are completely worthless if we fail to give them the gospel of Christ and offer an opportunity to respond in faith. The Gospel is “the power of God unto salvation” which brings help and healing to the soul.

The relief of physical suffering is not the only goal of our medical work. We must complete the two fold ministry of Christ by relieving the suffering of the soul of man. Therefore, it would be impossible to separate the practicing of medicine from the witness to the gospel with invitation to believe.

The gospel must be the true gospel. It must be the articulation of the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ. It must contain a call to forsake sin and call upon the name of the Lord at the moment. The call must include the admission that Jesus Christ is the Lord, and a belief that God has raised him from the dead.

The ultimate victory would be the baptism and church attendance of the new convert.

In order to accomplish these essential goals we ask that the missionary prepare a gospel team to work with our evangelist. This team would have several responsibilities.

1. The evangelism team will conduct the main witnessing efforts.
 - a. The members of the team will prepare the neighborhoods several weeks prior to the clinic days.
 - b. The members of the team must qualify people at the public invitation times.
 - i. They must learn to qualify the person as to the reason for their response to the gospel message.
 - ii. If it appears that they are coming without the earnest desire to forsake all else and receive Christ alone as Lord and Savior, the personal worker should repeat the gospel message of repentance, take their name and location, and then follow up after the clinic at their place of dwelling or at some other time.

- iii. If they are earnestly desiring to forsake all else and receive Christ alone as Lord and Saviour, the personal worker should confirm their understanding of the message of repentance, and then allow them to pray to accept Christ.
- c. The members of the team will prepare the people to come for evening services the night before the clinic the next morning.
- i. They will distribute information that the clinic will be on a certain day in their village or town.
 - ii. The information must include the instruction that in order to attend the clinic day they must attend a service the night before where people will give them the account of Jesus life, death, burial, and resurrection.
 - iii. The information should include the instruction that the clinic cannot accommodate more than two hundred and fifty people in one day.
 1. The first two hundred and fifty who come will receive tickets to return to the clinic the next day.
 2. This number could be adjusted according to the medical team composition.
 3. In order to come to the clinic they must have this ticket.
- d. The members of the team will be responsible to do all personal work in order to assist the evangelist in leading people to Christ.
- i. They will need to be available at the evening service for personal work.
 - ii. They will need to be available at the clinic preaching times for personal work.
- e. The members of the team will be responsible for follow-up of those who attend the clinic.
- i. The team will be responsible to bring the people to the new church
 - ii. The team will be responsible to encourage as many as possible to be baptized as a result of their profession of salvation.
 - iii. The team will also be responsible for helping the missionary start a church at the clinic site where applicable.
 - iv. Their purpose also will be to help begin a Bible study in their area if there is no church.

- f. The evangelism team will consist of nationals headed by a person appointed by a hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist.
 - i. The witnessing materials and method used in the evangelism will be approved and provided by the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist.
 - ii. The evangelism team must be taught and equipped for ministry prior to the evening services and medical clinic.
 - iii. All training will be supervised by the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist.
- g. Suggested attitudes
 - i. The evangelism team must remember that we will help them physically with medicine or otherwise, even if they refuse to hear our gospel.
 - ii. The evangelism team must be compassionate and never overbearing or dictatorial.
 - iii. Converts must choose to accept Christ not be bullied into salvation.
- 2. The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist should choose a young preacher to continue the ministry in the area where the clinic will be held.
 - a. It is recommended that this young man lead the witnessing teams.
 - b. If possible this man should have a Bible college degree.
- 3. Vacation Bible School would be a great way to win the children in the clinic.
- 4. Evening Service and Clinic Service
 - a. Preaching duties
 - i. Our staff evangelist will preach and be in charge of the evening service.
 - ii. If we do not bring an evangelist the host pastor, missionary, or evangelist will be responsible to provide a preacher.
 - 1. The preacher must be committed to the preaching of the gospel.
 - 2. The preacher must be passionate in his presentation of the gospel.
 - 3. The preacher must with urgency bid those in the service to come to Christ that evening.
 - 4. The preacher must not be hesitant to preach or give a public call to come to Christ.
 - b. Public Invitation

- i. The public invitation must not be a time for easy-believe “ism”.
 - ii. The public invitation should be a time to qualify the repentant.
 - iii. The public invitation must be a call to repent not a call to mumble insincere words which destroys the work of God and confuses the people.
 - iv. The invitation should purposely bring only those who are earnestly and intelligently responding to the Gospel.
 - v. The invitation should provide a time for those who are genuinely desiring to be saved to respond forsaking all and receiving Christ alone.
 - vi. The invitation should prepare the repentant to be dealt with in a solemn session afterward by the personal worker.
- c. Each day at some point during the clinic a preaching service will be held.
- i. It will always be at the same point once decided
 - ii. The clinic attendees will once again hear the gospel and be given another chance to respond to Christ because some will not have been at the evening service.
 - iii. All of previous sections applies to these evangelism times also.

Clinic Attendance Control

The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist will be responsible for pre-clinic advertising and control of attendance. If the clinic will be held in an area that is heavily populated a process for crowd control must be implemented. If the clinic were simply announced it could produce more people than the doctors could treat each day. This would produce a very difficult situation if the clinic had to turn away people. Crowd control could be an issue. WE DO NOT WANT AN UGLY SCENE BY A CROWD.

Because of this it is suggested that the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist prepare an invitation system to the clinic each day. A recommended system would be a welcome card. The card could be distributed with a date for people to come to the clinic pre-service. The card could even be color coded for the day of the week. An appropriate number to invite would be approximately 250 people per day. It is understood that a mother will bring several children. Each child will need to be counted in the 250 per day.

At each evening clinic pre-service, those who attend will be given a coupon to attend the clinic. The coupon can only be used by one person. No one may enter the clinic without the coupon. The coupon must be taken out of circulation so that it cannot be used again at that day's clinic. No more than 250 coupons can be distributed for a clinic day. Those who use the coupon must present it before 12 Noon each day. The clinic registration closes at 12 Noon. No extra coupons may be given the day of the clinic.

The invitations should be distributed in the area of the church which is being strengthened or established prior to the clinic day (Please refer to the evangelism section). The evangelism teams should distribute these starting two weeks before the clinic.

Radio announcements or newspaper announcements can be used to publish the clinics.

National Doctor to Represent the Ministry of Health

If possible, the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist should secure a national doctor to work as a liaison with the lead doctor of Operation Renewed Hope. It is suggested that the national pastor or evangelist find a Christian doctor who can be this liaison. However, sometimes it is not possible to pick the liaison.

Team Members Preparation

If possible, all medical team workers must read the Standard Operating Procedures of Operation Renewed Hope.

Although we solicit and desire all workers both foreign and domestic, it is only reasonable that a medical team function with a credentialed and experienced medical leader in charge of all things medical. For this reason, Operation Renewed Hope will always designate a Lead Doctor and team leader prior to the execution of the mission. It is requested that all who participate, willingly and lovingly, follow this leadership.

An organizational meeting will be held prior to the clinic and discussion of the SOP will take place to answer questions and establish work responsibilities. Assignments and layout of medical units will be established at this meeting. Due to necessity some assignments will have already been made.

The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist should prepare people accordingly.

Permissions and Authorizations

The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist must secure meetings with health officials to obtain written permissions for the clinic's operation. If possible, the permissions must include the names of medical professionals who will participate in the clinic.

The permissions for medicines, glasses, medical disposables, and other work related items to enter the country must be obtained for Operation Renewed Hope by the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist.

This will mean that the host pastor, missionary, or evangelist must be willing to establish a working relationship with the health departments, Customs, and all other necessary government organizations.

Operation Renewed Hope clinics are never operated apart from the knowledge of the authorized government agencies of the host country.

Clinic Location Sites

Locations will be chosen by the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist with the approval of Operation Renewed Hope leadership. These locations must be available for viewing by the ORH Director of Clinic Operations to determine layouts, travel feasibility, site feasibility, and possible use of the Mobile Medical Unit. This inspection of sites must occur prior to the clinic so that plans can be made.

The sites of the clinics should be in the areas where churches will be strengthened or established. The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist must prepare a young preacher or assume the role himself for the continued evangelism of the area of the clinic site. The ultimate goal would be for a young national preacher to pastor a strengthened church or an established church after the clinic.

Also, clinic sites should be chosen with the traveling capabilities of the potential patients in mind. The site should offer access to the largest number of people.

The host pastor, missionary, or evangelist must secure tenting, chairs, tables, generators, lighting, and buildings. Any problem with this should be brought to the immediate attention of the Director of Clinic Operations.

Disposal of Clinic Waste

The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist must secure through appropriate channels disposal locations and rights for the medical team. This is one of the most important responsibilities of the host. Improper disposal could lead to fines or loss of privilege to conduct clinics in the future.

The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist must secure instructions for any normal or unusual disposal practices by the local or national Ministry of Health. These rules must be communicated to ORH before the trip so appropriate plans may be made prior to coming.

The waste will be in bags and sharps containers.

Finances

After all permissions and authorizations are finalized, an advance of funds will be available to the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist. The advance must be agreed upon by the CEO of ORH, Director of Clinic Operations, and the host pastor, missionary, or evangelist. This money must be used to provide for initial costs of the trip.

Receipts must be kept on all purchases. These receipts must be given to the team leader at the close of the clinic. More money will be available upon request after the approval process.

Meals and Lodging

The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist must work with the Director of Clinic Operations to secure reasonable lodging and food arrangements for the visiting team. It is suggested that the team stay together as much as possible, both nationals and foreign workers. Church buildings for lodging or any other inexpensive means to lodge the team is preferred over a hotel cost. Team members bring air mattresses and will need simple arrangements for personal hygiene. If a shower is available that is okay but not required.

The food requirements are not extensive. Those on the team understand that cultural dictates will determine amounts and types of food.

The team will need a breakfast time so that the clinic can begin each day at approximately 8:30 AM. Drinks and a sacked lunch will need to be prepared for the noon day meal because the clinic will not stop for meals. The evening meal will have to be at approximately 6:30 PM due to the closing of the clinic generally around 6 PM each day.

The food preparation must be supervised by the host pastor, his wife, or someone well-trusted to avoid contamination. Cleanliness and proper preparation are essential. Food-borne pathogens can incapacitate a whole team in approximately 6 hours for at least a 24 hour period. This would make it impossible to do the clinic. It also could result in people being sick for a long period of time. The food can be food that is cultural or available; this is not a problem as long as the food comes from a clean source with reliable preparation. If cleanliness and proper preparation of food is a problem, ORH may have to bring MRE's as a last resort.

The food preparation and cost will be negotiated through the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist. Food must not jeopardize the health of a team.

Printing

There are several forms which must be printed in the country. The first form is an invitation card used to limit crowds in a large city. This card will be used to invite people through a visitation program to come to the clinic.

The second form is a patient registration form. This form is used at the information table, triage, and recording of all doctors actions with the patient.

The last form is a prescription form for dosage instructions to the patient.

All these forms will be provided by ORH to the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist to be printed prior to the clinic. These forms must be available at least one week prior to the first day of the clinic for the purpose of training. Without these forms the clinic would be forced to postponed until they were available.

Transportation for the Team

Transportation for the teams from airports, bus terminals, train terminals, or any other point of entry into the country must be provided by the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist. The transportation must be adequate to move the team.

Transportation to the clinic sites, hotels, church services, or any other needed transportation will be the responsibility of the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist.

In remote areas transportation may require boats and placement of fuel and oil lubricants for the boats. In remote areas 4 wheel drive vehicles or helicopters are sometimes necessary to accomplish the mission. It is the responsibility of the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist to secure, move, or maintain these items.

The transportation costs will be negotiated through the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist.

Immediate Care Supplies

The hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist must secure water containers, cups, and crackers for the immediate care workers to distribute. Please let us know that these have been secured.

The supply costs will be negotiated through the hosting pastor, missionary, or evangelist.

Clinic Jobs for Host Pastor, Missionary, or Evangelist

Interpreters - At least 10 people

Interpreters will work with doctors who speak only English or limited national language. Interpreters will also work in Triage with those doing initial work. The interpreters must read the registration papers for the English speaking doctors and nurses. There will need to be at least one interpreter in the pharmacy.

Information Station Workers – At least 4 people

These people must question those who want to attend the clinic. As they question the patient a medical team member will complete the registration forms in English for those who attend. The forms are crucial to the proper functioning of the clinic. Improper registration leads to serious problems.

Immediate Care - At least 1 person

We will need an interpreter for our immediate care medical team people. They must observe each person prior to registration to make sure no one has an infectious disease.

Directional Guides - At least one person

We will need 1 person to help the crowd control people to move the people to the lines for Triage.

Traffic Controllers for Medical Trailer Usage- At least one person

We will need one person to assist the medical team standing at the steps of each door on the medical trailer not allowing people to stand on the steps. The medical trailer team will make sure that people only climb the steps into the mobile unit when they are summoned by a nurse. Also they must be ready to help people to come down the steps so that no one falls. They may not leave their station unless they are relieved.

Generator Monitor (if used) At least one person

If we have a generator we will need a large gas container to keep with the generator at all times. We must have one person who can refill the gas can and check the generator regularly so that it does not run out of fuel. This person must have access to transportation. Also they must keep people away from the generator because it is dangerous.

Emergency Vehicle and Driver (where possible)

We need a vehicle on site which could rush a person to a nearby hospital in case of emergency. The person must have a clear understanding of the closest hospital and the best route to the hospital. This is a precaution, and we have never had to use it. If we have to rent a vehicle, a car will do; we will do so.

Workers to number the Patient Registration Forms

On a day prior to the beginning of the clinic, several people will be needed to number each one of the Patient Forms..

GENERAL GUIDELINES

Refund Policy

Operation Renewed Hope does not refund money. If a person drops from a trip, is asked to drop from a trip, or the trip is canceled there is no refund.

Payments

The first payment is the deposit. It is always $1000.00

The second payment is usually, but not always, air fare costs. ORH schedules the travel of all team members because of the closeness of time in movement of people. When the airfare is due the applicant must send in the appropriate amount for the purchase of his tickets. If they are late the air fare cost could increase, and they would be responsible to pay all extra costs.

The final payment is for food, lodging, and other trip costs. All published costs and fees are due prior to leaving on the trip.

If is requested that team members pay monthly for the cost of the trip which is always published. Operation Renewed Hope reserves the right to increase a trip cost at any time.

The individual must also provide for the eventuality of extra trip costs above the published costs which will be the participant's total responsibility.

Insurance

Operation Renewed Hope includes in the cost of the trip travel insurance. However, the team members are welcome to also get their own insurance and provide ORH with the proper information about this insurance.

Operation Renewed Hope does not purchase travel interruption insurance for each team member. It is highly recommended that team members purchase this insurance.

Team Member Conduct

1. Team members may not use tobacco in any form.
2. Team members may not use alcohol in any form.
3. Team members may not use profanity in any form.
4. Team members may not engage in pornography, sex, perversion, or contribute to these actions.
5. Adults may not become affectionate toward minors for any reason.
6. Minors may not become affectionate toward adults for any reason.
7. Males must maintain a discreet distance from females physically and not engage women in sexual conduct, speech, or playfulness.
8. Females must maintain a discreet distance from males physically and not engage males in sexual conduct, speech, or playfulness.
9. Team members must be dressed modestly at all times when in the public.
10. Team members may not accost one another physically, verbally, or non-verbally.
11. Team members may not take any other team members possessions without knowledgeable consent by the owner.
12. Team members may not leave the group and attend any gathering or function without prior permission from the team leader.
13. Team members may not bring weapons or items which can be a weapon on a trip.
14. Team members may not gamble in any fashion.
15. Team members may not bring any materials in any media form which is considered to be offensive sexually, spiritually, or physically.

Travel Instructions

1. Come prepared.
2. It is always possible that we could encounter loss of airline tickets due to many reasons. The traveler must understand that if this occurs Operation Renewed Hope cannot assume responsibility for purchasing new tickets. The participant must be responsible for purchasing all airfare to and from their home including airfare which is required because of a problem on the trip.
3. No person should bring more than one small suitcase and one carry-on bag. Both as small as possible. You may have to run to catch a flight, and heavy bags are really a problem.

4. On some trips you may receive a suit case or box of medical clinic equipment to add to your luggage. Please go through this container so that you can honestly say that you packed this bag.
5. All personnel should remain with the group during travel. Please do not leave the immediate area of our group.
6. All personnel are requested to wear the team shirt supplied while traveling. This shirt will make it possible for us to keep up with our team in busy terminals. It will also make it easier for us to go through customs. Please wear the shirt going and returning.
7. Please do not wear scrubs on travel days.
8. Please do not disturb other travelers on the planes. Please be courteous to all that serve us.
9. Please keep passports, visas, important papers, and tickets in a safe place while traveling. Do not keep them in a hand carried item. The possibility of loosing your documents is greatly increased. There are neck pouches and fanny packs made for this purpose. You must keep all official paper work from all governments until you surrender it or return to your home.
10. Please be careful not to buy food that requires special preparation or that might make it possible for you to miss an air flight.
11. Please practice rules of courtesy such as no loud noise, no horseplay, no running through congested areas, and remain in your seats while aboard the airplane unless necessary to move. On flights of more than 1.5 hours it is suggested that you move around for health reasons.
12. Please do not bring expensive jewelry, watches, recorders, mp3 players, small TV's, magazines, or any other items that could cause loss of time while searching for them. Operation Renewed Hope will not reimburse any loss of items brought on the trips.
13. Do not joke about carrying illegal substances at airports. Do not joke about weapons or be abrasive toward customs agents. It is very difficult to deal with these people when your conduct or words incite them.
14. Keep all carry-on baggage close at hand. Never leave it unattended. Do not keep money or official documents in any suitcase.
15. Wear clothing with pockets so that you can keep passports, documents, and money on your person. It is best that the pockets can be secured by snap or button.
16. In your carry-on always include two sets of under-garments and if possible a change of clothing. REMEMBER THE TSA RULES concerning liquids. www.tsa.gov/press/happenings/9-25_updated_passenger_guidance.shtml
17. When arriving in the foreign country please stay close to the group so that we can all clear customs at one time. This is also true of the return trip. Be

- prepared to pay for a temporary visa at the entry point. The costs could be $10.00 to $50.00. Usually there is a departure tax also; this cost could be $30.00 to $50.00. Never loose the temporary visa. It is as important as your passport.
18. All youth staff must surrender their passports, papers, and entrance/exit moneys. These items will be held till they are needed. Air tickets will be passed-out at time of need and will be required back for storage during the trip. Adults may follow this procedure also should they desire.
 19. Each person is responsible to make certain that his luggage is with the team at all times. Do not leave your luggage for someone else to load. If it is not with the team, then it is your fault.

In-Country Instructions

1. Remember; we are guests in a foreign country. The country does not have the same culture, laws, or freedoms. Please be very courteous and cautious.
2. Clearing customs in a foreign country can be difficult. For this reason we ask that no one carry any items which would arouse suspicion on the part of the customs agents. Weapons or other questionable items must not be brought or purchased during the trip. Some knives can be bought as souvenirs and packed in the check luggage.
3. Less personal items except for clothing and toiletries the better.
4. Please consult the missionary and team leader before doing any activity in the country.
5. Never separate from the group unless the missionary and leaders approve of the separation.
6. The time for sightseeing will be made available to those who stay the entire time of the trip. Those departing early will not be afforded the opportunity for sightseeing.
7. Please do not bring large amounts of money into the country. Spending money should be restricted to approximately $250.
8. Please do not eat at will from vendors. Always consult the missionary before buying from vendors. Food and water are serious issues due to parasites. Food and water should not be consumed unless the missionary or team leader gives permission. The best policy is that you cannot eat anything that is not completely cooked or peeled.
9. It is of maximum importance that people drink fluids. De-hydration is a serious problem. All staff must drink as much water as they can safely drink. The water must be in sealed bottles approved by the missionary.

10. If the missionary is unavailable the rule will be that no un-bottled or un-treated water may be consumed. Only cooked food may be eaten and it must be completely cooked. Do not consume any raw food.
11. Valuables in plain view are an open invitation to be stolen. Secure all valuables in carrying bags that can lock or be strapped shut.
12. Showers, toilets, and electricity will be at best impossible to guarantee. WE MAY HAVE THESE ITEMS BUT DO NOT COME COUNTING ON THEM. If you must have these items to be content and at ease please stay at home. Personal comfort is not a consideration.
13. Food will be difficult while on the trip. WE WILL DO ALL IN OUR POWER TO GIVE THE BEST MEALS POSSIBLE. However, we will be totally unable to accommodate special diets (case by case basis) or possibly picky eaters. You must eat what you are given, and do not complain. There will be no arguing with someone about this. If you are impossible to please or extremely narrow in your food comfort zones, please, stay home for everyone's sake.
14. Do not borrow money, clothing, or any personal item from anyone on the trip. If you forget something, some arrangement will be made when you contact the group leader.
15. All effort should be made to ask questions before leaving on the trip about what to bring or not to bring.
16. Always bring an air mattress unless instructed otherwise.
